The Phenomenon Bruno Groening

In 1949, one name dominates the headlines in the media:

Bruno Groening. Newspapers print special editions, radio and newsreels report. A film is made. Wherever he goes, thousands of people throng from all over to see him. Groening becomes a world sensation.

There is no incurable

But most of those who come to him are not fans or followers. They are sick people. Beaten down by the war and given up on by doctors, these people had only one wish: to be healthy again and released from pain and suffering. They want Bruno Groening to help them. And he does help them. "There is no incurable – God is the greatest physician", those are his words. And the inconceivable happens: countless sick people regain their health – the lame walk, the blind see.

On the Tracks of the Miracle Healer

The documentary film

"The Phenomenon Bruno Groening – On the Tracks of the Miracle Healer" traces the dramatic events of that time: original film and sound documents, archive material, over 50 eyewitness interviews, and also elaborate re-enactment film scenes. All this makes the film a deeply impressive experience.

A film with particular power

Many viewers report that they suddenly felt a power, a tingling sensation, a current in their body while watching the film. For most people this is a completely new experience. Some even report the disappearance of pain, disability, and other ailments.

Healing experiences today

Groening died in 1959. But even today extraordinary healings occur. How is that possible? The power that had once been transmitted through Bruno Groening is still active. The facts speak for themselves: healing of cancer, angina pectoris, rheumatoid arthritis, and osteoporosis, but also release from drug addiction and other addictions. Doctors confirm these successes.

Watch this film, learn about the phenomenon of Bruno Groening and convince yourself.
